

Join JEA

The Japan Epidemiological Association is an academic society established in 1991 to promote the exchange of ideas and discussion among members, as well as the development and advancement of epidemiological studies.

The number of Society members reached 1,703 on July 1, 2014, a 6-fold increase over the 243 at our inception. The importance of epidemiology is increasingly recognized in other fields, including clinical medicine, pharmacy, and nursing, among others.

We welcome the participation of a diverse range of personnel and researchers from all over the world, and wish to invite you to become a member of JEA.
